City Must Build New Hospital To Get State And U. S. Assistance

By SCOTT McMURRAY

If Marion is to secure federal aid for hospital expansion the funds must be spent for a completely new hospital plant, not for an addition to the present hospital.

This was made clear to Mayor Dowler, councilmen, members of the Civic Planning Commission, physicians, county officials and nearly 100 interested people by Dr. A. J. Borosky, chief of the state office of hospital facilities, at a meeting to discuss the city's chances for federal hospital aid held last night at Central Junior High school auditorium.

Marion, in Dr. Borosky's opinion formed from the results of the state survey, should have a new hospital of 218 bed capacity. The state will not assist in financing an addition, permanent or otherwise, to the present hospital. The reasons for this, he says, are two-fold—(1) the present hospital location does not meet present state requirements or the city's requirements of future expansion, (2) the present hospital building could not be arranged to function efficiently as an integrated unit of a large hospital plant, and it isn't fireproof. The present hospital could be utilized until the new hospital was completed and then be used for the treatment of chronic patients, he pointed out.

Dr. Borosky said Marion has a "gilt edge opportunity" to get a hospital. As far as the requirements of the state and federal aid plans are concerned it is the most eligible city of its size in the state. The state survey placed Marion as fourteenth in the state in priority for securing federal aid through the state office. The state survey just completed by A. M. Settles, construction consultant, and C. J. Mosher of the hospital facilities staff finds Marion's hospital facilities far below that of even smaller cities in the area. From the point of local health care at the present time this is a bad situation, it was pointed out. From the point of view of securing federal aid this is a good situation, for priority is based on the greatest need.

96 Beds Now Available

The state finds Marion now has 96 beds available in City hospital, of which only 46 are acceptable under state standards. Other cities of comparable size show a much greater total of beds available and beds acceptable. Bucyrus, a smaller city than Marion, has 46 beds acceptable of 46 available. Mansfield has 217 beds acceptable of 240 available. Delaware has 57 beds acceptable of 57 available. Newark has 115 beds available and a like number acceptable, while Zanesville has both available and acceptable 276 beds.

Dr. Borosky lauded Mayor Dowler and the City hospital administration for their fine implementation of the present hospital plant which has been operating at "staggeringly heavy" 85 per cent occupancy. "Mayor Dowler and the people of Marion have done a fine job with their present hospital and could do an even finer job with a new hospital," said Dr. Borosky.

Explains State Plan

The state plan as explained by Dr. Borosky would employ a 218 bed hospital in Marion to serve all of Marion county, and parts of Morrow, Union, and Wyandot counties. Since the financing of

Pan-American Sessions Begin

Top Diplomats Welcomed in Bogota as Epoch-Making Conference Opens.

By The Associated Press

BOGOTA, Colombia, March 30—Top diplomats of 21 Pan-American nations convene here today for what may prove to be the most important conference in the history of the western hemisphere.

President Mariano Ospina Perez of Colombia will open the ninth international conference of American states with a welcoming address this afternoon.

Three basic projects face the delegates:

1. Moulding of the interAmerican system into a strong regional bloc within the framework of the United Nations.

2. Creation of a program of economic aid for Latin America.

3. Enactment of a part providing for a peaceful solution of differences between the American republics.

Not on the agenda, but certain to play an important role in the discussions are the issues of communism and colonialism in the western hemisphere.

Chile, Paraguay and Cuba have expressed hope the conference will take a stand against Communist infiltration in the Americas.

Secretary of State George C. Marshall was greeted with Communist posters depicting him as a Nazi when he arrived here yesterday. One set read "Hell Marshall" and was decorated with Nazi swastikas. It was the only Communist manifestation.

"Twenties-for-Taft" Organization Formed

By The Associated Press

ROCKFORD, Ill., March 30—A national Twenties-for-Taft club was formed here yesterday.

Mrs. Ruth McCormick Miller, president of the LaSalle-Peru-Oglesby (Ill.) News Tribune, announced the new group favoring the presidential candidacy of U. S. Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio).

She said membership will be limited to young women in their 20's.

Truman Suggests Wallace And Party Move To Russia

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 30—Henry A. Wallace came back to the capital today, hard on the heels of President Truman's thinly veiled suggestion he take his whole third party movement to Russia.

At the same time anti-Truman Democrats refused to accept as final an official Army declaration that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is no more available to them than to the Republicans.

And on the other side of the political fence, reports bobbed up that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and Senator Robert A. Taft have agreed to gang up against Harold E. Stassen's bid for Maine's 13 GOP convention votes.

These were the developments, one at a time:

Mr. Truman, who less than two weeks ago denounced "Henry Wallace and his Communists," in a St. Patrick's day speech, took another poke at his ousted cabinet officer and presidential rival. The setting this time was a dinner meeting of Greek-Americans, the order of AHEPA.

The President was introduced by Dean Alfange of New York, who told the audience that Wallace and his followers ought to go to the Rocky mountains "in the role of the Greek guerillas."

Then, Alfange continued, Premier Stalin might recognize the former vice president as "the leader of the free government of the United States."

Names Greek "Wallace"

"The dean has stolen my thunder," Mr. Truman said in his extemporaneous remarks. "I was going to tell you that the Greeks had a Henry Wallace. I was going to tell you that the Greeks had a statesman, an orator, a demagogue. * * * They had the greatest demagogue of all time, Alcibiades."

But the Chief Executive continued, "If imitators of that ancient Greek conqueror want to see * * * liberties subverted, I suggest that they go not to the Rocky Mountains — that's fine country out there. He (SIC) ought to go to the country he loves so well and help them against his own country if that's the way he feels."

There was no immediate rejoinder from Wallace. He was booked for an afternoon appearance before the senate armed services committee to oppose Mr. Truman's request for a temporary draft revival and universal military training. The President asked for those steps to back up this country's demand that Russia halt her Communist aggression.

Answer to War Charge

Wallace repeatedly has accused the President of adopting policies that will lead to war.

"This country never wants war," Mr. Truman told the AHEPA gathering.

"But there are certain things which are worse than war. One of them is slavery. That's what we were faced with in 1940 and 1941. We are faced with almost exactly the same situation today."

As for Eisenhower and the boom among some southern and northern Democrats to promote him as a substitute candidate for Mr. Truman, the Army's top press relations officer, Maj. Gen. Floyd L. Parks said all this maneuvering has had no effect upon the retired chief of staff.

Permitted his name to be used rather than insisting upon anonymity as an "Eisenhower spokesman," Parks declared in a statement that "under no conceivable circumstances" will the five-star general yield to a Democratic draft.

Almost simultaneously, the policy committee of the Liberal party of New York adopted a resolution calling upon the Democratic party to draft Eisenhower as its nominee. A party spokesman said committee members knew of the Washington statement before they acted.

Meanwhile, James Roosevelt said he has no intention of climbing on the Eisenhower bandwagon as have two of his younger

WALLACE CHARGES FALSE CRISIS MADE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 30—Henry A. Wallace said today the Truman administration created a "false crisis" and is deliberately leading the American people toward war.

"I charge," said Wallace, "an artificial crisis was deliberately manufactured to stampede congress and the people into accepting universal military training and conscription."

The third party presidential candidate denounced administration policies in a 5,500-word statement prepared for the senate armed services committee. The committee is hearing testimony for and against UMT and a temporary revival of the wartime draft to back the administration's new halt-Russia policy.

Wallace's testimony was distributed to reporters several hours before Mr. Truman struck out anew last night at his ousted cabinet officer by suggesting that he go to Russia.

Among accusations the former vice president leveled in his prepared statement at the Chief Executive and his policy makers were these:

1. The current international crisis was "concocted" not only to promote big business, but also to stave off an economic crisis at home.

2. Forced labor for workers will result from a remobilization program.

3. The administration "is arming us for a war without limits or inhibitions—a war as dangerous for ourselves as it is for others."

4. The administration's military policy intends to impose "military control of every kind."

5. America is threatening the security of the world.

150 MILLIONS APPROVED FOR ATOM WEAPONS

House Committee Speeds Action on Money Needed for Defense Program.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 30—New funds for atomic weapons and research for military road work in Alaska, and for the word war with Russia were oyaked today by the house appropriations committee.

It also approved new grants for relief work in army-occupied countries and for veterans' administration personnel.

The committee recommended a $332,487,782 bill to meet shortages in funds previously voted for various agencies for the year ending June 30. The bill is scheduled to come before the house for a vote tomorrow or Thursday.

The total is $66,311,478 below the amount President Truman had asked. Most of the cuts were in funds sought for the maritime commission, the postoffice department and the Air Force clothing budget.

In addition, the committee canceled $200,345,000 in money previously appropriated for the Army, mostly for the finance service. The Army itself had proposed a $150,000,000 cancellation.

Atomic Fund Unchanged

Not a penny was cut from the $150,000,000 asked by the atomic energy commission, all of it in contract authority for which congress will put up the actual money later. The new authority boosts to $659,091,863 the amount the commission will have at its disposal this year.

The committee admonished the commission to "move forward with all possible speed in its research programs, both in the wartime and peacetime uses of the newly discovered secrets."

It acted after Carroll W. Wilson, general manager of the commission, emphasized what he called the urgency of meeting the armed services requirements for atomic weapons. Most of the new money, Wilson told the committee at a closed door session, "will be directed toward insuring the continuity of production of fissionable materials, the fabrication of these into weapons, and the conduct of research and development."

Alaskan Road Fund Okayed

The committee gave its okay to a request for $7,370,000 in cash and $4,000,000 in contract authority for construction of a road connecting Seward and Anchorage, Alaska.

This is an interior department project. But the committee said Secretary of the Army Royall had described it as "of major importance to the planned military program in Alaska."

The U. S. Information and Educational exchange program, which sponsors the "Voice of America" broadcasts to Europe, was given $3,000,000 of the $5,120,000 it asked for the remaining three months of this fiscal year.

The committee said it is not satisfied with the way the program is handled and said "a sound and effective program" of combatting Soviet propaganda abroad should be worked out within the framework of a law enacted early this year.

RAIL WAGE FINDINGS DISAPPOINT UNIONS

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, March 30—The nation's railroads are ready to grant a wage increase of 15½ cents an hour to 125,000 engineers, firemen and switchmen, as recommended by President Truman's fact-finding board.

But the rail brotherhoods representing the workers haven't decided whether they will accept the pay hike. The unions, who asked for a 30 per cent wage boost, expressed disappointment over the board's findings.

The general chairmen of the unions will meet in Cleveland next Monday to act on the board's recommendations—which are not mandatory.

If they reject the pay boost the government is expected to seek further discussions. But there will be no strike immediately. Under the Railway Labor act the unions are required to continue at work for a 30-day period ending April 30 before leaving their jobs.

Tomorrow the three unions' wages and rules committee will meet in Cleveland to start a study of the board's recommendations. The proposals also include changes in working rules.

Federal Judge Gives Speedy Ruling, Cutting Off Argument for Lewis.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 30—Justice Edward M. Curran ordered John L. Lewis to appear today before President Truman's board of inquiry in the coal strike at 2 p. m.

Curran acted quickly after Lewis' attorneys raised the question of adequate time to reply to the summons and challenged the constitutionality of the Taft-Hartley act.

The order was served on Lewis at UMW headquarters shortly after noon.

Lewis reached his office just before noon and deputy marshals arrived a bit later. One marshal remained in Lewis' office for about 20 minutes. He did not make any announcement when he left.

Charles Ward, chief deputy marshall, announced, however, that Lewis was "served personally" at 12:17 p. m.

Welley K. Hopkins, attorney for the chief of the United Mine Workers, had argued barely 10 minutes when Curran ruled. Lewis did not appear personally to explain why he should not appear before the board of inquiry.

Curran told Hopkins the court had been lenient in granting Lewis an opportunity to "show cause." The judge said that in his opinion he could have directed Lewis to appear before the board without the formality of today's hearing.

Personal Service Required

The order for Lewis to appear before the board this afternoon, Curran said, would have to be served on Lewis personally.

This posed a new problem for U. S. marshals. They had a merry chase yesterday in trying to reach Lewis with the subpoena from the inquiry board, and later the court order to show cause.

Lewis sent four lawyers to Curran's court—Hopkins, Earl Houck, Harrison W. Combs and T. C. Townsend.

Justice Richmond B. Keech had given the United Mine Workers chief, or his lawyers, until 11 a. m. to "show cause" why he ignored a presidential fact-finding board's subpoena. The board is looking into the facts of the pension dispute which has idled some 400,000 soft coal miners since March 15.

The justice department asked the federal court to compel Lewis to appear before the inquiry board. That was a preliminary move to asking for a court injunction if Lewis continues to defy legal steps spelled out by the Taft-Hartley act for settling "national emergency" disputes.

Heavy Fines Assessed

A year ago Lewis and the UMW had to pay a $710,000 fine resulting from the November 21-December 7 strike which had been forbidden by court order.

Federal Judge Sherman Minton, chairman of the three-man fact-finding board, indicated that it would report on the strike issues to Mr. Truman today, if possible, to speed an injunction if Lewis remains defiant.

Under the Taft-Hartley act the board must report to the President before he may seek a strike-ending injunction.

Lewis defied a subpoena of the presidential board yesterday. That led to the court summons served on him last night.

It was handed to him at his Alexandria, Va., home after a dramatic rundown.

ITALY'S PARTY HEADS SEEK CURB ON REDS

By The Associated Press

ROME, March 30—Italian party leaders, disturbed by two political killings in the leftiest north yesterday, arranged to meet tomorrow to seek remedies for a rash of violence which threatens their campaign truce.

Communist Umberto Terrachini, president of the constituent assembly, who arranged the truce in an effort to bar bloodshed in the campaign for the vital April 18 elections, called the meeting.

Stave-swinging unemployed, some 7,000 strong, marched through the streets of Milan today, demanding work and relief payments. Police stood by anxiously, because of yesterday's widespread outbursts, but there were no incidents of violence.

Bitterness Increases

There were predictions the incidents may set off trouble today.

Yesterday's violence followed increasing bitterness over Italy's vital April 18 parliamentary elections.

FREIGHT PEAK SET BY C. & O.

Highest Mark in 70-Year History Reached, Says Annual Report.

Special to The Star

CLEVELAND, March 30—The greatest freight business in its history raised 1947 net income of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway to $35,387,327, equal to $4.44 per common share, President Robert J. Bowman today told stockholders in the railway's 70th annual report.

This compared with 1946 net income of $28,372,069, equal to $3.55 per common share.

The annual report was the first covering the operations of the enlarged C. & O. system, resulting from merger of the Pere Marquette Railway last June 6. Comparative figures take into account operations of the Pere Marquette for 1946 and for the five months of 1947 prior to the merger.

Total receipts from all sources were $321,810,928, or 27 per cent higher than in 1946. Yet gain in net income was less spectacular, because receipts were offset by increased prices and wages. The payroll for the C. & O.'s 41,159 employes last year was $137,342,301, or 21 per cent higher than in 1946. Fuel, material and supplies cost 39 per cent more than in the previous year.

Freight Boosts Granted

In addition to the belated increase in freight rates granted by the interstate commerce commission at the first of the year in Ex Parte 162, Mr. Bowman said "the Commission granted two interim freight rate increases, the first effective in October, 1947, and the second in January, 1948, which partly offset the pronounced rise in costs.

After all expenses and payment of dividends totaling $28,209,766 on common and preferred stocks, the C. & O. transferred $3,490,990 to earned surplus in 1947.

Freight Volume High

Handling a substantial part of the record quantity of goods produced by mines, farms and factories last year, the C. & O transported 134,342,939 tons of freight — a 17 per cent increase over freight volume for the preceding year.

Coal traffic, long the mainstay of C. & O. business, amounted to 93,000,000 tons last year, accounting for $167,106,992 of 1947 freight revenues and nearly 30 billion of the ton-miles carried.

To improve service, the C. & O. (including the Pere Marquette prior to the merger) spent a total of $38,846,939 on new equipment and other improvements in 1947.

FARMERS WONDERING HOW THEY'LL FARE

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 30—Farmers in the northeastern and middle Atlantic states, wondering how they'll fare this year in the market basket of the nation's biggest industrial area, saw some clouds on the spring horizon today.

From Maryland to Maine, from West Virginia to Lake Ontario—wherever farmers met in fence-corners and at crossroads—each man was his own best authority. But where opinion consistently jibed there emerged a general pattern of the problems confronting farmers in the region.

Labor costs are higher than ever. In some areas able farm hands are as scarce as hen's teeth.

New farm machinery is difficult to obtain for some and too expensive for others. In a few areas, particularly Vermont, farmers have banded together to buy and operate equipment.

Recent declines in the commodity markets have not yet lowered the price of feed much in the northeast. That particularly hurts dairy and poultrymen—leading types of farmers in the region.

But some of the dark clouds farmers see also have silver linings.

The past winter's heavy snows cause experts to expect the best hay and grain crops in many years.

Cornell university agricultural experts generally are optimistic about the burgeoning growing season. Prof. Herrell De Graff of the New York State college of agriculture at Cornell sees no general food shortage in the nation. He claims, however, that insufficient cereal stock are being grown to maintain an adequate meat supply.

On the other hand, Prof. L. C. Cunningham of the same college said 14 per cent more acres were seeded to wheat last year in New York than in 1946. He foresees a 10,000,000-bushel wheat crop in the state—largest since 1900.

Red Blood Cells Must Be Kept Up If You Want To Feel Alive

Thousands Now Regaining Old Time Pep, Vigor and Drive By Releasing Vibrant Energy To Every Muscle, Fibre, Cell

Overwork, undue worry, and lack of certain foods often reduces the red-blood strength—and starved, weak, puny blood just hasn't the power to keep up your energy and drive.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that S.S.S. Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the S.S.S. Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, S.S.S. Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on S.S.S. Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. S.S.S. Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Before a boy or girl is ...permitted to operate his or her ...cycle the parents should be cer- ...tain that the child knows all the ...rules of safe cycling. Before he or she starts to ride the child should be able to recite the following rules: If you ride your bike in the street keep well to the right side and ride in the same direction as the automobiles. Ride in a straight line, do not weave or stunt. Ride bikes single file and ride alone, never try to carry a passenger. Stop for red lights and stop signs as if you were driving a car and obey all other traffic laws when riding your bike. Never try to "hitch" a ride on a motor vehicle. Avoid riding after dark if possible and always keep your bicycle in good mechanical condition. If you must ride at night obey the law and have a white headlight in front and a lighted red tail light in the rear, both visible from 500 feet away.

Caution Sign

"A playing child should be a human caution sign to the adult motorist," said Chief Marks, "for nobody wants to hit a child. The alert motorist will keep clear of children on bicycles be they right or wrong in operation. Especial watchfulness is necessary for children darting out between parked cars. Reduced speed and increased watchfulness in school zones and residential areas is a must for drivers. Always make sure there are no children playing near your car when you pull out of a parking place. The price of failure to fully observe thes erules is high for the child you maim may be your own. Most of your Marion policemen are family men with children of their own. They will do their best to protect your child but they need your help. Be a sport when you drive, for a good sport always gives the other fellow a chance to live a good life. This should be doubly true when the other fellow is a little fellow playing in his yard or riding his bike," Chief Marks concluded.

LABOR HEARING SET BY COURT

Tribunal Agrees To Rule on Ban in Taft-Hartley Act; Makes Decisions.

Special to The Star

WASHINGTON, March 30—The U. S. supreme court Monday agreed to rule on the constitutionality of the Taft-Hartley law's ban on political expenditures and set April 26 for oral arguments.

In other actions having a bearing on labor, the tribunal agrees to rule on the constiutionality of anti-closed shop laws in North Carolina and Arizona. Both cases involve appeals by the American Federation of Labor and several affiliates.

In the North Carolina case, the state last July brought suit against an Asheville building contractor and the AFL to prevent enforcement of their closed shop contract. The state law makes illegal all existing and future labor union agreements that make union membership a condition of employment.

In the Arizona case, state courts overruled AFL efforts to invalidate the anti-closed shop amendment to the Arizona constitution which was approved in the 1946 elections.

Editorial by Murray

The Taft-Hartley test case was brought directly to the high court by the justice department, challenging a decision by federal district Judge Ben Moore that the law violated constitutional guarantees of freedom of speech, press and assembly.

The test case arose when the CIO last July endorsed the candidacy of Edward Garmatz of Baltimore, Md., for a seat in the house of representatives. The CIO News published an editorial by President Phillp Murray urging Garmatz' election, and printed an extra edition for free distribution.

The justice department sought to enforce the labor-management act ban against both Murray and the CIO. The penalty for the union if convicted would be a $5,000 fine and Murray would be subject to one year's imprisonment and a $1,000 fine.

Reverses Decision

Among other actions Monday, the court: Held unconstiutional a New Yok state law banning the sale of publications made up of stories of "bloodshed, lust and crime, thereby reversing the conviction of Murray Winters, New York City book dealer, sentenced to 30 days in jail and fined $100 for violating the law. The decision came in a 16 to 3 opinion.

Frankfurter wrote the dissent. He was joined by Justices Jackson and Burton. Frankfurter said the majority ruling struck down similar laws in these states: Connecticut, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montant, Nebraska, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Washington and Wisconsin. New York made the twentieth state affected.

REV. J. E. WILLIAMS

California Minister To Conduct Revival

Rev. J. E. Williams of Pasadena, Calif., will open a revival at the First Church of the Nazarene Wednesday night. The revival will continue to April 11. There will be services each night including Saturday night, and special music each evening by the radio choir, men's quartet, the women's trio and the junior girls' quartet of the church.

Rev. Williams' subject for his first message will be "Wings of Prophecy Over the World." Some of the questions he will discuss will be, "Is the end of the world drawing near? What does the Bible have to say about this atomic age? What about Russia in the light of prophecy?"

CALEDONIA CLASS ELECTS

When the Alumni class of Memorial Methodist church at Caledonia met recently, officers were elected as follows: Mrs. Margaret VanScoy, president; Miss Joyce Jury, vice president; Miss Glenna Cain, secretary; Miss Jessie Cain, secretary; Miss Jessie Underwood, treasurer; Miss Jeanne Underword, reporter, and Misses Patricia Pommert and Opal Underwood, and Mrs. Lela Weir, social committee.

STREET REPAIRS NEEDED

BUCYRUS — Declaring $10,000 annual appropriation for street repair is inadequate to meet the problem of putting Bucyrus streets in good condition, Floyd Pfleiderer, city service director, warned today that the time is not far distant when a bond issue will be necessary for the complete rebuiding of some streets.

TRIAL OF 3 MARION MEN SET IN APRIL

Charges Grow Out of Strike at Galion Plant.

The court trial of three Marion men indicted last fall by the Crawford county grand jury on five charges arising out of alleged strike activity in Galion has been tentatively set for April 22 in Bucyrus, their attorney, Thomas C. Fetter, reported today.

The men are Richard C. Gibson, 28, of 392 Owens street, James A. Wilson, 29, of 361 Clinton street and Walter E. Foust, 30, of near Marion.

The indictment returned Nov. 3 charged the men with kidnaping, grand larceny, operation of a motor vehicle without the owner's consent, assault and battery and assault.

The charges arose out of an alleged "kidnaping" of two North Electric Co. employes Oct. 22 during the UAW-CIO strike at the North company plant in Galion. The men are free under $3,000 bond, pending trial of the case. Charges were filed by the North Electric Co.

Attorney Fetter was granted a delay until March 2 in trial of the case first scheduled for Jan. 27-28. Prior to March 2, Crawford County Prosecutor Leo Scanlon requested the case be taken out of assignment indefinitely pending further investigation of the charges by the state. His request was granted by Judge Clarence U. Ahl.

At the request of Attorney Fetter Friday the case was reassigned and is listed for trial April 22, more than five months after the indictment was returned.

Marion Man Marks 81st Anniversary

Thirty relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Sager at 315 Hane avenue Easter Sunday to celebrate Mr. Sager's eighty-first birthday anniversary. In good health at 81, Mr. Sager this spring spaded a large garden by hand, and has lettuce and sweet-peas through the ground. For the last several years, he has been a familiar figure on horseback around town. Born and reared in Marion county, he went to Lorain in 1919 and worked there on the police force of the National Tube company.

He was retired 10 years ago and since that time has made his home on Hane avenue. At the celebration Sunday, four sets of four generations were present. Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Norman Anderson of Lorain, Morris Sager of Detroit and the L. M. Sager family of Galion.

boom, gangster rule, speakeasies, the stock market and the amazing decade of the nineteen twenties; "How to Make Arithmetic Meaningful," by Brueckner and Grossnickle, who present views on the methods of teaching arithmetic:

"Speaking Frankly," by Byrnes, a volume dealing with the crucial period in U. S. history; "Chatterton Square," by Young, a story of what goes on behind the facades of two houses, the Blacketts and the Frasers which adjoin each other in one corner of Chatterton Square; "Book of Bays," by Beebe in which the author deals with sea elephants, ghost moths, spider monkeys and scenes in tiny bays along one of the least explored coasts of the world; "Confessions of a Congressman," by Voorhis in which Jerry Voorhis relates the experiences in congress of an active, not an armchair politician and "Human Destiny," by du Novy, a scientific work marking a new epoch in human thought.

Under a Maryland law recently tested in state courts, state officials have the power to regulate timber cutting practices on private lands and to forbid clearing forest land for crops where watersheds might be damaged and where lands are deemed worthless for agriculture.

In Plain Words

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

"JOHN L. LEWIS . . . quotes the Bible, Shakespeare and Plato with ease . . ."

A Washington paper said that on Sunday. And on Monday big John came through. He wrote a note:

"Sir:

". . . no action has been taken by this writer or the United Mine Workers of America, as such, which would fall within the purview of the aggressive statute under which you seek to function. Without indulging in analysis it is logical assumption that the cavillings of the bar and bench in their attempts to explicate this infamous enactment will consume a tedious time."

James Marlow

What he meant was:

"I'm staying away because I haven't done anything — and neither have my miners — that's covered by the law. The lawyers will chew up a lot of time splitting hairs over what that law means."

But John, who pulls on the language like taffy, stretched it out. It was his way of telling the President's fact-finding board he wouldn't be around to talk about his tiff with the coal mine owners.

The Taft-Hartley law, now nine months old, says the President can set up fact-finders when there's a big strike in a big industry.

But John says his miners are not striking, they're just not working. And he doesn't like the Taft-Hartley law. So he toos a crack at it in his note.

But what about Shakespeare? Some of the words in John's note were good enough for Shakespeare.

LIKE "TEDIOUS." John used it. So did Shakespeare in Richard II. Shakespeare never heard of John or federal court but he said:

"As in a theater, the eyes of men,
"After a well-graced actor leaves the stage,
"Are idly bent on him that enters next,
"Thinking his prattle to be tedious . . . ."

John, who's been called quite an actor, could "enter next" in federal court today. When he failed to appear yesterday, the fact-finders got a federal judge to order John to tell the court why.

John was being good Shakespeare when he used "statute" instead of law. Shakespeare used it in "measure for measure."

Church Leader To Speak Here Tonight

Rev. Francis A. Schaeffer of Philadelphia, Pa., American secretary of the foreign relations department of the American Council of Christian Churches, will be in Marion tonight for a service in Emmanuel Baptist church at Fairview and North Main streets, Dr. C. E. Hershey, pastor, announced.

Last summer, he spent three months in Europe on a survey of the religious situation there, and in that time visited 56 places in 13 countries, and interviewed 180 Christian leaders. He is now touring this country in the interest of the foreign program of the American Council of Christian Churches.

The council has issued a call for formation of an international council of Christian churches at a meeting set for next August in Amsterdam, Holland. With his message, Rev. Schaeffer will show pictures taken in Europe. Before the end of the year, he expects to return there as a missionary. The American Council of Christian Churches was established in 1941 to represent churches that "maintain themselves true to the basic truths of the historic Creeds," and has headquarters in New York City.

BUT SHAKESPEARE couldn't have been thinking of the Taft-Hartley law or any federal law or even John when he said:

"He arrests him on it;
"And follows close the rigour of the statute,
"To make him an example."

No other labor leader has tested the Taft-Hartley law the way John is doing now. If he doesn't show up in court, or his lawyers for him, the judge can, as Shakespeare said, make him an example—by jailing him for contempt.

BUT IT'S NOT clear whether Shakespeare would have okayed the way John pulls and tugs on the language.

Sometimes an overload of words troubled Shakespeare. In King John he said:

"Zounds! I was never so bethump'd with words,
"Since I first called by brother's father dad."

And it's a lead-pipe cinch Plato would have been unhappy about John's style. The Greek philisopher said pretty plainly: "Beauty of style and harmony and grace and good rhythm depend on simplicity."

And even though John's a student of the Bible when he wrote that note to the board he must have forgotten that the book of Micah said:

"Write the vision and make it plain upon tables, that he may run that readeth it."

You can't run and read John. But who's John writing for: the board, the public or his miners? Maybe it's the miners.

They have plenty of time to sit down and read him. They're not doing anything right now.

Our Trade With Russia

UNDER authority of a 1939 law, President Truman has halted the export of military supplies to Russia and eastern Europe. It was a sensible and necessary move, perhaps too long delayed. But it hasn't satisfied those who point out that in these days of total war all goods can be converted to military use. Food, textiles, lumber, hides—all are as necessary as bullets to operate the military machine.

However, trade with Russia hasn't been a one-way proposition. Complete suspension of our trade with her would cut off 25 per cent of our manganese imports and 29 per cent of our chromium. Furthermore, instigation of an east-west trade war would jolt the very considerable commerce which moves through the so-called iron curtain. Supplying western Europe with what Russia now sells there would put a greater strain on our economy.

Lest Someone Forget

ONE of the many things that union executives don't want their members to know about the Taft-Hartley act is the paragraph in section 1 that reads:

"Experience has demonstrated that certain practices by some labor organizations, their officers, and members have the intent or the necessary effect of burdening or obstructing commerce by preventing the free flow of goods in such commerce through strikes and other forms of industrial unrest. The elimination of such practices is a necessary condition of the assurance of the rights herein guaranteed."

At the close of last week, John L. Lewis, president of United Mine Workers, forced a three-day delay in the work of a special inquiry board studying the strike he is maintaining in the coal industry. He did this by the arrogant expedient of staying away from a hearing. Lest someone forget, "The elimination of such practices is a necessary condition of the assurance of the rights herein guaranteed."

The "rights" referred to are those which have made it possible for Mr. Lewis, a private citizen in charge of a labor monopoly in the coal industry to hold veto power over the welfare of the United States.

Lavish Leave Allowances

OHIO Chamber of Commerce criticism of leave regulations for federal employes is justified. A survey by Senators Ball and Bridges for the senate appropriations committee shows wasteful practices and unparalleled liberality that would bankrupt a private employer.

Sick leave may be taken up to 15 days a year and accumulated up to 90 days. Time off for sickness is counted toward earning the annual 26 days of regular leave. State employes have 11 days of regular leave.

A nine-month survey of government printing office timecards showed the average sick leave to be 9.6 days, most of which were taken after weekends and holidays. Rumors of reduction in force resulted in many becoming conveniently "ill" to use up accumulated leave.

Many employes accumulate their 90 days of leave, for which they are paid on separation. Some agencies have so many employes with 90 days to their credit that it would disrupt their budgets to drop them from the payrolls. Accumulated annual and sick leave due government jobholders is estimated to be $1,100,000,000.

No one begrudges federal employes a fair amount of time off under sick and annual leave, but allowances should be brought in line with those prevailing in industry and in state, county and city governments.

More on Tidal Lands

BY A 2 to 1 vote, a senate judiciary subcommittee favors yielding to coastal states control over their tidal lands. This action is in opposition to the recent supreme court ruling holding that such lands belong to the federal government.

These marginal sea lands are estimated to hold 100 billion barrels of oil, more than five times the known interior resources. The federal government is seeking control over them, holding that such a reservoir constitutes a national resource. It is willing to sublet the lands to the states on a lease basis, with the states receiving most of the royalties on oil withdrawal.

Undersea oil pools are among America's last great untapped natural resources. Conservationists fear that in the control of the states they might be pumped indiscriminately.

Did You Know

Except in farming districts, American married women who have some college training are less apt to remain childless than those who have graduated from high school but had no further schooling.

From the founding of the Macedonian Empire (336-323 B. C.) to the founding of the Seljuk Turkish Kingdom (1071-1081 A. D.), Asia Minor was dominated by the Graeco-Roman civilization.

Indians of the Andes highlands wore platinum spangles and nose rings 2,000 years ago.

American married women who have graduated from high school are more apt to remain childless than those who have only a grade school education.

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

The Element of Danger in Wallace.

IT IS not within reason that Henry Wallace can be elected president of the United States in 1948. It is probable, as things are now, that he will receive between 5,000,000 and 10,000,000 votes. This will be the largest vote that any third-party leader ever received in American history.

He will then lead a sizeable minority party whose strength is not guesswork but was recorded in a general election. That the spine of his support is the Communist party, that his most vociferous advocates are renowned fellow-travelers, will not affect the situation politically. His mere appearance on the scene has already created such havoc that the Democratic leadership has been rocked into confusion.

SOKOLSKY

Wallace employs the Communist technique of stimulating discontent and then combining the discontented elements into a mass following. His slogan, immediately after the war, "boom and bust," designed to prophesy a depression which never arrived, started a series of strikes which is the principle element in the current inflation. That he produced and used admittedly phony statistics to achieve this end bothers him not at all because his mind seems to live in a realm of slogans, one of which is 'The greatest good for the greatest number," which he alone knows how to achieve.

Out of the Past

Way back in 1934, Henry Wallace wrote:

"But, in addition to recognizing the honest seekers by whatever path they come, it is also essential to remember the need for tremendous earnestness. Earnestness of the depth I have in mind can come only from such a contact with inner and outer reality that it produces a state of mind which can say in all honesty, 'Thus saith the Lord.' Or in more modern language, 'The whole current of righteous events is in this direction. Decision is undeferrable. If we decide wrongly, the time of great tribulation will come upon us.'"

It was in this particular writing that he first employed the phrase, "The world is one world," subsequently captured by Wendell Willkie and Harold Stassen and others who were seeking to dramatize internationalism. Wallace has never departed from that concept, which in reality has come to mean the federation of the world under the hegemony of Soviet Russia. This trend it is now the policy of the United States and the contries of western Europe to arrest. But it remains the cornerstone of Henry Wallace's concept of his own role in politics.

For the Days to Come

Not that Henry Wallace accepts the hegemony of Soviet Russia. He would push that idea aside as something to be dealt with in the future. His immediate objective would be to eliminate "a system of nationalistic or class enterprises." This he stated as follows:

". . . A modern Isaiah, seeing the possibilities of modern transportation and communication and observing the national barriers imposed by the nations against each other since the war, would cry out against international injustices. He would go to the people of the different nations with his message and call for a new deal among nations. He would do this with vigor and immense earnestness even though from an immediate practical point of view his message might be premature."

The danger of Wallace is not that he is a confused mind, that he did or did not write the Guru letters, that he was or was not a participant in mystical religions. The danger is that he has a clear concept and a firm purpose, which is to produce a one world, no matter by what means, no matter under which country. Such a concept means the elimination of the United States as a national state, the subordination of its policy and even its life to the one world. When he was laughed at for his "milk for the Hottentots," he meant precisely that even if, in actual practice and for a time, it also meant reducing milk for Americans. It is the idea of "the greatest good for the greatest number" carried to an illogical absurdity.

To some, this makes Henry Wallace an attractive social reformer and they will follow him in a blind mass. Actually, it makes him an astute menace to the United States because he has eliminated from his thinking altogether the United States as a separate and distinct national entity with rights of its own.

No Time for Half Measures

By Walter Lippmann

IF it was in fact necessary that Secretary Marshall should leave Washington at this time in order to go to Bogota, he can not come back too quickly. For the condition of our affairs is very serious indeed, and without continuous attention it may become unmanageable. The President's message, the speeches, testimony, and press conferences of Mr. Marshall, Mr. Forrestal, Mr. Royall, Mr. Sullivan and Mr. Symington have put this country in the position of preparing slowly and with half measures for a war of undefined objectives.

LIPPMANN

The peril of war will become more acute and more immediate unless the administration accelerates its military measures and clarifies its diplomatic objectives.

Our policy, it is said, is to convince Stalin and the Politburo that aggression will mean war. But half measures, taken slowly, are quite as likely to convince the Kremlin that our policy can be defeated by bold and ruthless measures taken quickly. There is good reason to think that this is precisely what the Czechoslovak coup, the Finnish action, the menacing pressure on Scandinavia, and on Iran signify—namely, the conviction in Moscow that they can obtain the strategical advantage before this country can mobilize and deploy its forces.

It is by no means certain that the Russians have not concluded that the risk for them is less if they bring about a showdown in the near future than if they wait until western Europe is united and recovering and until we are rearmed.

For our power, though potentially great, requires time to develop. It has to be exerted at the end of long lines of supply. And, morally and politically, we are committed in a dozen scattered areas of the globe, all of them within much easier reach of Russia than of the United States.

Russian Advantage

Moreover, in all these areas the Russians can intervene, using the native Communists, far more easily than can we, supporting the mixed and divided factions that are anti-Communist. Our superiority in the great weapons, like the atomic bomb and in long-range aircraft, no doubt exists, but time, distance, and mass on the one hand—the ability to provoke civil war and to seize hostages on the other hand—are, if not a defense against our superior weapons, a very considerable offset.

So we must not think that the measure the president has recommended and the declarations about no more appeasement are anything more than the first beginnings of national policy to deal with the situation. They are in fact rather like digging a hole which is to be the foundation of a house for which the architect has not yet made a plan nor the contractor assembled the materials.

The military measures recommended by the Truman administration will remain half measures, even though they are backed by an industrial and financial mobilization, until definite strategic decisions are taken as to where and for what purpose American military power is to be deployed. These decisions have not been taken.

They have not been taken because the diplomatic policy of the administration is still the policy of containment, which means in military terms that American forces may be required all around the periphery of the Soviet Union in Europe and Asia, when, where, and as the Soviets choose to take the initiative.

It is impossible to make effective military preparations to support a policy of this kind. We shall never have enough military forces, nor be able to get them to these scattered theaters at the right time, nor having gotten them there to do more than win local, indecisive, engagements.

Concrete Policy Needed

The alternative is a policy designed for a concrete and, therefore a limited but decisive objective. That objective, it seems to me, a settlement, induced by power and facilitated by compromise, which results in the withdrawal of the Red army from the Stettin-Trieste line to the frontiers of the Soviet Union. Such a settlement may be impossible to achieve without war. But whether it was achieved by diplomacy or war it would be a settlement of the main conflict between the Soviet empire and the western world.

It would not settle all the troubles of mankind. It would not end the ideological conflicts that divide the world. But nothing will settle all the troubles of mankind. Containment will not settle them. An anti-Bolshevik crusade will not settle them. All that can be settled now is whether half of Europe shall remain under occupation by the Red army and the other half in danger of occupation.

In one way or another that will have to be settled, and upon that settlement all our power and all the resources of our diplomacy should be focused and concentrated.

Something Disgraceful About This

What About This Talk of Another War?

From The San Francisco Chronicle.

FOR MANY reasons, the talk of war has been more widespread throughout our country in recent days than at any time since the close of World War II. Probably it is the natural result of critical event piling upon critical event, and of happenings endowed with mystery and foreboding by the very temper of the times. You hear it in the homes, the clubs, on street corners: Where will Russia move next? Was there more to the Forrestal Key West conference than met the eye? Does it mean war? And almost always one voice will say: "Well, why don't we drop a few A-bombs and get it over with?"

The Chronicle is for absolute realism in appraising the Soviet threat, and forthright action in containing it. For the record, we say again that when and if war becomes necessary for the preservation of our national integrity and the defense of those freedoms Americans have cherished for almost two centuries, we will be for war. We perceive that our national boundaries are not the boundaries of our vital interests. If in the judgment of reasonable Americans there arises the certainty that Russia is irrevocably committed to our destruction, it would be better to make our stand early than late, abroad rather than at home. We put that on the record so there may be no misunderstanding of what we are about to say.

Realism demands an appraisal of the other side of the picture—of the costs to America of another war.

A NEW WAR would mean, for the first time in nearly a century, ultimate combat within our boundaries. For the first time in the experience of Americans, it would mean aerial warfare conducted indiscriminately against civilians. No American who has lived among the British during the blitz, or who has gone ashore on a populated Pacific island after the preparatory bombardment, can fail to understand what this means. And yet no American has seen it happen to his own people. That would be one of the novelties of World War III.

A new war would be fought mainly with the armed might of the United States. The last time we had powerful friends. They are no longer powerful. We would have to carry almost the full economic burden.

With the very outset of a new war, disciplines would have to be imposed upon the whole American people. This time no able-bodied man or woman could be spared, to fight or to work at a designated job. Rationing would immediately be reimposed, across the board. Scarcity would be the law as to foodstuffs and clothing. Fuel for private motoring would be denied entirely—there is not enough, now, even to man the peacetime fleet and air arms adequately. Production of private autos, stoves, houses, refrigerators, washing machines, all manner of appliances, would be halted as the great industrial plants began retooling for war. Shipyards would be reopened, and the great aircraft factories would resume their bumper production (and so become prime targets for enemy bombers.) Wages would be frozen; in any event, the 20 per cent cut of your wages now paid in income taxes would become 40 per cent, then 50 per cent and probably much more as the war moved along. And, in spite of this, the national debt would skyrocket at a pace much greater than during the last war. The next one will be far costlier than the mere $300,000,000 per day that the last one was burning at its peak.

THE desperate pace of the next war would require disciplines far more rigid than the last. Complete nationalization of industry, complete regimentation of "private" finances, would be the order. For atop the financial burdens of the last war would be piled the new burdens of rebuilding bombed-out factories, or speeding the completion of new ones to replace them, and perhaps the replacement of these, which might well be hunted out and bombed before they were finished.

We cannot deal here with the effects of atomic bombing on our homeland, for we cannot know how soon the enemy would have the bomb. We would have to meet the contingency when and as it arose. But we cannot afford the delusion that his would be a short, savage war, over in a few months. For we would have the necessity of driving the enemy out of Paris, and Berlin, and Rome, and Scandinavia, and of defeating him in the farthest reaches of Siberia and the Orient, before we could claim a victory. By any reckoning, that is a project of years' duration. And what new scientific horrors he might be able to achieve in that time, by his own ingenuity or by the enslavement of capable foreign man power, we cannot guess.

But we can deal with the nature of that "victory" (if victory should be ours).

IDEALISM would, by war's end, have long since been replaced by an habitual cynicism. We have not known that kind of cynicism, only a touch of it. We would then know the kind that results from getting accustomed to the violent destruction of loved ones, and the maiming and disfiguration of others. We would know what others now know of the cynicism that comes of seeing our cities rendered to gray rubble, stinking of untold dead. We would have acquired the habit of living under the constant shadow of sudden death; the habit of dreaming of nothing beyond the next few hours. Whatever we now have of morals and ideals would have been buried under the overwhelming necessity of hating and killing and living in eternal dread of the next wail of the siren.

In the aftermath of this next war, there would be no strong friend at hand to help us dig away the rubble, bury our dead and resurrect our dreams. The government, under the burden of a thousand billion dollar debt, would do well to survive by any expediency. Perhaps we would not call that totalitarianism, but only because we were too deadly weary to wonder what had become of democracy. Weary and sick and dull and without apparent hope or cause for it. Did you see a bombed-out Berlin hausfrau in late 1945, squatting among her rubble. She, at least, had the hope a powerful America could hold out to her.

There is, of course, a vigor surging through the veins of Americans that might survive even this kind of war. However fragile might be that hope, it would be better than no hope at all.

So we are not arguing for peace at any price. We are simply reminding the let's-get-it-over with school that it isn't that easy, and the time to remember it is now.

A farewell banquet for George Whysall, manager of the Marion Water Co., was given by officials and employes of the company at Hotel Harding.

A program in the form of a movie followed by a social hour in "an ice cream parlor" was held by the Eastside Mothersingers at the home of Mrs. W. E. Miley on South Seffner avenue.

Ninety tables were filled for cards at a benefit party and style show held by Gamma Mu chapter, Delta Theta Tau sorority in the Elks' hall. Models were Mrs. Richard Parish, Misses Maxine Alspach, Jane Raub, Mary Cook, Louise Foreman, Hazel Foster and Nadine Knachel.

Harold Davis, six-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Davis of Ashley, was in Grant hospital, Columbus, for treatment of injuries suffered when he fell from the family automobile the preceding Monday.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Friday, March 30, 1928.

United States Senator Frank B. Willis was stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage while attending a homecoming welcome prepared for him at Delaware and died shortly afterward. He was 57.

Mrs. Anna F. Raffensperger, mother of Dr. E. H. Raffensperger, celebrated her ninety-fourth birthday anniversary at her home on South Prospect street.

Miss Martha Trott of Forest street left for Ann Arbor, Mich., where she went to visit over the week-end and attend the university's annual freshman frolic.

Miss Naomi Clouse of Edison, a pupil in Caledonia High school, won a Marion county oratorical contest and thus became the county's entrant in a national contest.

Imaginary Interviews: The First Robin

Q.—Welcome, and its good to see you again. When did you get in?

A.—Oh, quite a few days ago. You didn't happen to see me.

Q.—Have a nice trip?

A.—It was bumpier than usual.

Q.—What seemed to be the trouble?

A.—I never could quite make it out, except that everything seemed so tense and disturbed, and there was so much snafu everywhere.

Q.—You mean to say that even a first robin runs into the current snafu?

A.—Positively. I used to come through light and carefree with nothing to worry me, but well, it's the general state of nervousness and confusion, I suppose. For one thing I never felt sure whether the administration was with me or not.

Q.—Can it be that Washington in any way controls first robins?

A.—Year ago, it didn't, but the word among robins for some time past has been that there was such a thing now as a first robin policy.

Q.—What is it?

A.—That's just it; I never could make it out.

Q.—Were you interfered with?

A.—Not exactly, but since it is a presidential year I felt uneasy. Truman seemed to be for me in early March, but he left me out on a limb as April approached. I suppose it was those Wallace speeches.

Q.—Did Henry oppose Truman on first robins?

A.—Henry would oppose Truman on anything.

Q.—What seemed to be Henry's attitude?

A.—I got the distinct impression he didn't want any robins getting through before the redbreasts were much redder. There was a rumor he wanted to give priority to red-headed woodpeckers and redbirds.

Q.—Did you get any idea how the Republicans felt on first robins?

A.—There are so many Republicans with ambitions in the ring this year that if I had stopped to report all their views I wouldn't have arrived before August. Generally speaking, I felt a robin would be far less to run into controls under them than under the Democrats.

Q.—Haven't Dewey or Taft come out with a positive attitude on robins yet?

A.—They're both waiting to see how Stassen and MacArthur feel. I had luck with me in one way, however.

Q.—How was that?

A.—I got through without any trouble with John L. Lewis.

Q.—Don't tell me first robins have any fear that Lewis will try to run them?

A.—My impression is that he will try to run anything. I came through the coal regions mighty fast, flying mostly at night.

Q.—Well, you must have had luck with you. But you still act nervous. Why?

A.—Well, there's UN. They might start debating over me. They've debated everything else.

Q.—But surely there would be no objection to letting the first robin arrive on time, would there?

A.—Say, bub, haven't you ever heard of GROMYKO?

Breathe Deeply

By TRUMAN TWILL

With all due respect to the appearance of spring, which is fresh and gleaming with greenness, and acknowledging that the sounds there are indispensable, it's the smell of spring that turns the trick:

1. The scent of new grass bruised lightly by a baseball player's flying feet as he goes after a lofty fly in the outfield is beyond all price and must be handled with care. Middle-aged men have been known to swoon when coming upon it without warning.

2. The smell of little onions gathering sweetness from the stirring earth, flavoring themselves with the balm of shimmering sunlight and the blandness of spring showers is enough to make bitter foes smile at one another and agree to a truce lasting 1,000 years.

3. The pungent perfume of a trillion bursting buds releasing the incense of clouded mornings light into the clean, washed atmosphere of spring morning should be regulated by law in view of the fact staid burghers may feel impelled to flee to the woods for a bud-burst instead of traipsing to their desks and benches for another day of honest toil.

4. There should be an unwritten rule against windows of school buildings being left open, permitting passersby to be overcome by waves of nostalgia and pangs of remorse because they didn't have the sense to know when they were well off amidst the fumes of chalk and soap.

5. The utmost caution should be exercised in exposing winter-sickened mortals too suddenly to the redolence of mint beds stirring beneath the tangle of last season's aromatic stalks. The mintjulep enthusiast may react to this the way a cat reacts to catnip and make a fool of himself.

6. Too much care cannot be exercised in the exposure of young ladies and gentlemen to the air in springtime because of a peculiar bouquet that makes it perfectly natural to think of each other as being immeasurably more beautiful and desirable than anything else on earth, which is of course not true, except in springtime.

7. Danger lurks also in the explosive mixture made by combining any or all of the fragrances mentioned with the familiar fragrance of houses where windows and doors are opened on warm days. The smell of cooking cabbage mingled with the sweetness of apple blossoms makes strong men weep and confident women yearn for the dear, dead, departed days. It also indicates an affliction whose chief symptom is an urge to clean house.

8. It all adds up to spring fever, a condition of the mind and body in which restlessness and lassitude are strangely and wondrously combined, to the extent that one more extra-strong whiff of any of the dangerous odors of spring time may prove completely demoralizing, with effects that will not wear off until late in June.

If all the oil wells drilled by U.S. oil companies in 1947 could have been placed end to end, they would have passed through the earth two and one-half times.

Meanwhile, a house sub-committee checking into leases on government-owned plants also began an on-the-ground probe. Rep. George Bender (R-Ohio), subcommittee chairman, revealed committee investigators now are looking into the Cleveland situation.

Bender said Rep. McCormack (D-Mass) requested the investigation. Congressmen report receiving thousands of letters and telegrams supporting both bidders.

Preston B. Tucker, head of Tucker Corp., offered to buy the steel mill—which cost the government $28,000,000—for $8,000,000, with 20 per cent down and the balance over 10 years at four per cent interest.

Republic bid $4,748,000 cash for the by-product coke-oven and offered to lease pig-iron facilities on a production basis with an option to purchase for $7,669,000.

When Tucker made his offer he charged that "big steel and auto lobbies" were blocking his attempted purchase. C. M. White, Republic president, asserted that if Tucker was awarded the plant hundreds of small companies depending on Republic for pig iron would suffer "disastrous" effects.

The Cleveland mill has an estimate annual capacity of 450,000,000 tons of pig iron and 395,000 tons of coke.

GALION, March 30—Only a few witnesses were heard at the hearing of the injunction suit brought by John P. Drouth, Galion taxpayer, against the City of Galion, city auditor Lloyd A. Frye and city treasurer Clio Kreiter, in Crawford County common pleas court Monday at Bucyrus. The hearing was adjourned until Wednesday.

Drouth, in his petition, charged that the city council violated its discretionary powers in setting the salary of the service-safety director at $600 per month, and asked that the city be restrained from paying the salary.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

FOR several seconds Georges looked at Dicky without saying anything. I guessed he was finding it a little more difficult to broach his fantastic theories to another man than to tell them to a woman. But, at last, with a sigh that appeared to come from his shoes, he launched into speech.

"You cannot imagine how difficult this is to me," he began, "to talk to you about something so sacred that it has been locked in only two hearts, Mary's and mine."

"Oh, oh," I thought to myself, in Mary's own vacabulary. "That's torn it."

For I knew Dicky's explosive temper. Surely the bad taste of this familiar reference to Mary would rouse him to savage scoring of Georges.

But when I saw his imperturbable face, and heard his low, drawling, apparently undisturbed voice, I realized that, having had the catharsis of his explosion to me over George's asinine behavior, he now was indulging in the well-known process of giving the royal play-boy "rope enough to hang himself."

"I've never known you, Georges, to have any reluctance about speaking your mind on any subject," Dicky said, and the words and tone were covertly insulting. I saw Georges' face redden, but he was so obsessed with the fantastic theory which his brain was harboring, that he did not openly resent the thrust.

"The trouble is, Mr. Graham," the fugitive king of Trees said, in his most regal tones, "that you do not know me at all. You think I am a playboy, a trifler with the affections of women, an egoist who can love no woman truly because he always is thinking of himself. That is the mental picture you have painted of me, is it not?"

I did not blame my husband's jaw for dropping a trifle. Georges' summing up Dicky's opinion of him was really uncanny. But the jaw snapped back into place again, and his reply could have given no possible satisfaction to the fugitive king.

"Just exactly what does my opinion of you have to do with all this?" he drawled. "I must warn you, Georges, that I have very little time to give you. Please get to the point of your discourse as soon as possible."

Georges' resemblance to an angry turkey cock made my laughter muscles twitch.

"I do not believe any man before ever faced such a problem," he said, and paused.

"Oh, think a minute, Lad!" Dicky said cheerily. "Just count the men who have been born since Adam, and then use your imagination about the problems that have confronted them."

"But that ought not to bother you now," he went on, "whether you're unique, or just one of an assembly job. You have a problem that's troubling you. I believe you said, and you wish to consult me, because I am the uncle of Mrs. Noel Veritzen. Okay, go ahead and consult, but make it snappy, for Heaven's sake!"

Georges tried hard to look like a man whose sensibilities have been flayed raw by a callous barbarian, but his appearance was that of a pouting school boy rather than that of an outraged monarch.

"It is very hard to put what is in my heart into brief words," he said, and I saw Dicky grin a bit derisively at him.

"I'll hand you out for free what every city editor is supposed to tell a new reporter at one time or another," he said. "It refers to the number of words used to tell the story of the Creation and the Crucifixion. For Heavens' sake, man, what is it you are trying to tell me? Put your news up in your first paragraph. I believe that's another newspaper rule."

"I will," Georges said explosively, apparently goaded to the limit of his endurance. "I am trying to tell you that I cannot go on with this marriage to Princess Olina until I hear from Marys own lips that she no longer loves me more than she does any other man."

Referee To Discuss Football Lore in Talk Here Wednesday

W. A. Blake, superintendent of labor relations of the Inland Steel Co. and a well-known Big 9 football referee, will be the principal speaker tomorrow night at the annual fellowship banquet of the Manufacturers Council of the Marion Chamber of Commerce.

The dinner, in charge of Robert LaMarche, will be held in the Masonic Temple starting at 6:30 p. m. Approximately 350 will attend.

As senior referee in the Big 9 and midwestern football circles, Blake has had many interesting experiences which he will touch on in his talk "What Goes on in the Huddle of Men."

And as any referee, he has had his share of raps from sportswriters and remembers especially a tirade directed against him for a decision in the Notre Dame-Navy game of Nov. 3, 1945, when he was accused of flipping a coin to determine whether or not the Irish made a touchdown, but he says, he is thickskinned and doesn't let it bother him. He will mention that game in his talk.

You need us because we are here to fit you and complete the job. We are here the next day and ever after to look after you and make such corrections as your daily work develops necessary.

Nobody can fit you with a truss and turn you away sure of results under the various positions you may afterward take in your daily work or recreation.

CORRECTIONS IN PAD OR TRUSS ARE ALMOST UNAVOIDABLE

DeGamo, the greatest living authority on truss fitting, says: "The retention of these hernia must be undertaken seriously and not considered as trifling cases to which a truss can be applied and the patient sent on his way. It has frequently happened that patients coming from a distance have been sent away unattended until such time as they could arrange for several days uninterrupted attention necessary to successful treatment."

It makes little difference which comes from a distance—patient or fitter—if they leave the next day successful treatment can not be ensured.

Six Receive First Communion at Waldo

Six young people of the Waldo Evangelical and Reformed church charge received their first communion Easter Sunday at services in St. Joseph's church at Waldo and St. John's church in Richland township, according to the pastor, Rev. H. N. Doerres. Three received the rite of confirmation at each church the week before, on Palm Sunday. They were among large attendance at services of each church on Easter, Rev Doerres stated.

During their period of instruction, which began Nov. 15 and was conducted each Saturday, two attended all Sunday school class instruction periods and all morning worship services of their particular church. Attendance generally at each Sunday school has increased more than 30 per cent since Rev. Doerres began his ministry on the charge, he said, and more young people and adults have been attending church worship services than Sunday school sessions.

HOSPITAL

the hospital from city funds or bond issues was held to be out of the question by Mayor Dowler, the question was raised by the maror as to why the hospital plan could not be financed through township, county, and city bond issues from all of the affected townships. The mayor questioned Prosecutor James Reed, who was in the audience, as to the legality of this plan of financing. Mr. Reed said he already had referred the question to the state attorney general and was awaiting an opinion from that office.

Financial aspects of the plan were the subject of a brisk question and answer session at the close of Dr. Borosky's address and a discussion session of the project and its possibility of achievement led by Mayor Dowler revealed a keen local interest in the project.

The mayor stated some 64,000 persons are served by the present hospital of which 40 per cent are from the city, 30 per cent are from Marion county outside the city, and a total of 48 per cent of all patients admitted are from outlying areas outside Marion and from adjoining counties.

Marion can have a new hospital if it can raise $2 for every dollar the state and federal grants are willing to match. Can Marion raise the required amount? was the question raised last night. Mayor Dowler said it could not be done by bond issue and keep the city within the $2,000,000 limit of bonded indebtedness, of which $1,200,000 has already been used.

Cites Property Value

The assessment valuation of the city is at present approximately $40 millions. With no bonded indebtedness this valuation could not in 25 years cover the cost of a new hospital. Mayor Dowler added, however, the assessed valuation of the area of this county plus the portions of Wyandot, Union and Morrow counties served by the present hospital, which would also be served by a new hospital under the state plan, amounts to $75 millions, which he believes could at normal interest rates retire a 25-year bond issue if the financing were based on the valuation of the whole area. The legality of whether townships in a county plus townships in adjoining counties may go together for bonded indebtedness is now in question. Mayor Dowler said he believes this hurdle can be cleared.

The question arose as to what official or agency should start the ball rolling to get a coalition of the city, townships and county to attempt to solve the problem.

Carl H. Lehner, chairman of the board of Marion county commissioners, was asked by the mayor whether his support of the project could be counted on. Mr. Lehner answered by pledging his support and restating his belief in the project and added he would present the project to his fellow commissioners at an early date to secure their assistance. He also added that he believed as a member of the Grange that Grange organizations would be the best sounding board of the opinions of rural residents on the subject.

Thanking Lehner, the mayor said he believed that this matter should be a project of the Civic Planning Association.

Bernhard Peterson, executive committee chairman of the association said he would call a special meeting to begin a study of the hospital problem.

Russell Smith, 25, of 219 Nye street, an employe of the Erie railroad, suffered head injuries about 10:30 last night while at work in the Erie yards. INJURED NEAR DELAWARE

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, March 30—Mrs. Sarah Burns, 22, of Huntington, W. Va., was admitted to the hospital here Sunday night suffering from a back injury suffered when the stalled car in which she was sitting was struck in the rear by another car on route 23 about four miles south of Delaware. The injury is not believed serious. The impact of the collision drove her car 100 feet down the highway, but caused little damage because four tired tires tied on the back acted as a cushion. The other car, driven by Albert Loomis, 27, of Jackson, Mich., was considerably damaged.

Assets Board Rejects Order from Finland

By The Associated Press

DAYTON, O., March 30 — A $50,000 order from Finland for machine tools has been rejected by the War Assets administration.

H. B. Doty, manager of the WAA's local customer service center, made the announcement last night.

The official reason, he said, was "because the tools had not been first offered to the Army and Navy." Unofficially, he said, there was "a suspicion that the material might fall into the hands of a power that should not have them."

Report Dewey, Taft Agreement

In the Republican arena, Washington politicians close to the situation said an undercover fight over the complexion of Maine's delegation to the GOP national convention probably will break into the open later this week.

The state Republican convention is due to meet Thursday and Friday to pick 13 delegates to the Philadelphia presidential nominating meeting. Traditionally the state would go uninstructed.

But politicians here said Dewey and Taft have reached a silent agreement to work for a delegation which would be about evenly divided among their friends.

The New York governor and the Ohio senator were said to feel that otherwise Stassen might run away with the plume while they were fighting each other.

If the reputed Dewey-Taft combine works in Maine it may be another sign of growing friendliness between the two major candidates.

But their supporters say the tieup won't hold elsewhere. In Nebraska, for instance, they will be clashing at each other's political throats in the April 13 popularity primary.

Youth Held to Jury In Pool Room Theft

Harry Eugene Manley, 20, of 710 Bennett street who was arrested by police at 9:05 a. m. Sunday morning, when discovered locked in the Idle Hour pool room, this morning in municipal court was bound over to the grand jury on a charge of grand larceny of $59. His bond for appearance was set at $1,500. When searched by police who were summoned to the Idle Hour by the owner, police reported he had on his person $31 in bills, $5.80 in nickels, $6 in dimes, $14 in half dollars, $2 in quarters, and 59 cents in pennies. Manley, according to police, said he knew nothing of having the money and offered no explanation of how he had received it.

KENTON MAYOR DENIED INJUNCTION AGAINST CITY

Special to The Star

KENTON, March 30—Common Pleas Judge Arthur D Tudor today had denied an injunction petition against the City of Kenton which sought to restrain the city from carrying out its contract with the M H Rhodes company for the purchase of parking meters.

The suit against the city, Carl Gardner, (then safety-service director), and the Rhodes company, was brought by L B Brown (now mayor of the city) as a taxpayer.

The judge ruled that the contract was executed legally by the (then) mayor. Leroy Hoppe, and the service director upon proper authorization by the council.

The judge, in his decision, questioned the motive in the filing of the suit, saying that the delay in prosecution of the suit" * * * portrays the case in its true light—obstructive tactics of an unsuccessful bidder * * *"

The suit was filed in August, 1946.

Your Good Health

Symptoms in Children That Alarm Parents

A symptom which frightens patients is often a blessing in disguise because it sends them post-haste to the doctor for expert help.

Hematuria which means the presence of blood in the urine, is such a symptom, especially in young children. And luckily so, for when such a situation exists, no time should be lost in finding and treating the disorder which is causing it.

The search may be complicated, for blood in the urine may result from many different diseases. Some chiefly affecting the kidney and bladder and others being of a more general nature. The doctor's search for causes will be somewhat conditioned by the age of the patient.

In a child, for instance, he will, as a rule, first suspect nephritis or kidney inflammation, and pyelitis or inflammation of the part of the kidney in which the urine collects before it passes into the bladder. When these are ruled out by diagnostic tests, he will probably think next of rickets and scurvy, both of which have been known to cause this symptom.

In obscure cases he will also consider the possibility of some disease affecting the blood itself, such as purpura in which there is bleeding into the skin and membranes of the body; hemophilia in which the clotting power of the blood is affected and internal hemorrhages are common, or leukemia, in which there is a great increase in the number of white cells.

In young and middle-aged adults the presence of blood in the urine may also indicate pyelitis anod nephritis, but here the doctor must think of certain other possible causes as well, among them tuberculosis of the kidney, stone in the bladder ureter or kidney and infections of the urinary tract.

In late middle-aged and elderly persons long-continued inflammation of the kidney and high blood pressure may be responsible for blood in the urine. However, at this period of life, tumors of the kidney or bladder are more often present than in younger persons, and these tumors are frequently responsible for the occurrence of blood in the urine.

If the blood comes from the bladder, it is usually brighter in color than that which comes from the kidney, pelvis or ureter. Fever, together with the bleeding usually indicates some type of infection.

Pain and frequency in emptying the bladder suggest some condition affecting the lower part of the urinary tract such as bladder inflammation, stone in the bladder, tuberculous enlargement of the prostate gland, or tumor.

Pain in the sides passing down into the groin, often indicates a chronic infection, or a stone in the ureter or canal leading from the kidney to the bladder.

Thus, it may be seen that blood in the urine can be due to a large variety of ailments, many of which are serious. Hence, there should be no delay in seeking the advice of a doctor when blood appears in the urine. The condition requires thorough and careful study on his part to determine the source of the bleeding because it is only after the cause is found that intelligent treatment can be given.

Strahm Sole Local Winner in Toledo Bouts

Sports Shorts

By BILL DIEM
Star Sports Editor

IN GENERAL, no one Columbus high school has a corner on the football or basketball markets, but in high school lesser sports, there are a few standouts . . . Columbus Aquinas, for example, is a perennial threat in swimming, challenged of late by Columbus North . . . And in baseball, it's Columbus St Charles . . . Last year, the St. Charles nine, playing as a high school and as a Junior American Legion team, won 32 games while losing but four . . . And this year, seven lettermen are back . . . Like Marion St Mary in basketball, the St Charles diamondmen last year were always the best man, never the groom, losing out in the finals of two tournaments . . . Upper Arlington beat them in the district A finals, and Cincinnati Bentley Post beat them in the state Legion finals at Delaware . . . But this year, with seven regulars back, the story might well be different.

THE MOST VALUABLE chunk of diamond talent back with St Charles this year is their pitching staff, Big Jim O'Neill, who also was something of a threat in the St. Charles cage team this winter . . . Almost single-handed, Big Jim carried his team to the finals of the Legion tournament at Delaware in early August last year . . . He pitched in six of St. Charles' six games, going the full route in two of them . . . In another, he was retired in the eighth when his team had an 8 to 3 lead . . . In the other two, he was the reliever . . . He pitched 35 innings in five days, winning three games, saving another, but losing one, the final.

BIG JIM GOT St. Charles by by their first hurdle in the Legion tournament by bearing down when when it counted . . . Though he allowed nine hits, he won 9-3, over Lancaster with the help of 11 St. Charles hits . . . He worked eight innings and was relieved only when his team led, 8-2 . . . A day later, he went the full nine innings, allowing seven hits but winning, 6-5, from Parrysburg . . . On the third day of the tournament, a Wednesday, St Charles went into the sixth inning leading Cuyahoga Falls, 4-2, but before St Charles' George Reverman retired the side, Cuyahoga had collected four runs, and Big Jim went to the bull pen . . . In their half of the sixth, St. Charles countered with four runs, and Big Jim blanked Cuyahoga the rest of the way out to save the winning lead.

BY THURSDAY, the strain was beginning to tell . . . St. Charles run into the tournament favorites then, state champions of the year before and at the time riding a 26-game win streak . . . Their opponent was the powerful Cincinnati Bentley Post, and they got to Reverman right away for three runs in the first inning . . . Big Jim went in with two men on in the second, but Cincy counted five runs before he retired the side, and he left the game . . . Cincinnati ended with a 14-7 margin of victory.

ONE MORE LOSS meant outs for St Charles, but Big Jim felt fine Friday . . . The opponent was Cleveland, and they touched him for one run in the first, but Big Jim settled down and started to burn them across . . . His control was amazing . . . In the second inning, St Charles tied up the score with a run, and then went ahead, 2-1, in the sixth . . . They made another run in the seventh, and so did Cleveland, but the game was St. Charles' and they ended ahead, 3-2 . . . Both teams played errorless ball and the game was largely a pitcher's duel . . . St. Charles collected six hits, and Cleveland seven . . But though giving up seven hits, Big Jim whiffed 13 batters, and not a man reached first in balls . . . And the seven men who didn't strike out or make a hit knocked easy grounders out to the mound for Big Jim to whip over to first for the out . . . Thirteen strikeouts, seven assists, that was Big Jim's defense Friday, August 8 against Cleveland

THE LAST DAY of the tournament came up with only St Charles and Cincinnati Bentley left . . . Could Big Jim start again, his fourth start in six days? . . . Saturday morning rolled around and that question was on everyone's lips until game time . . Big Jim started . . . But the masterful game of the previous day had taken too much out of him and the Cincinnati sluggers went to work, winning 11-0 . . Cincinnati, who had a strong mound crew of four good hurlers, had saved their ace, Bob Andres ever since Monday when he pitched a winning five-hitter, and Andres mowed them down . . Later in the year it was Andres that won Cincinnati the national Legion championship in Los Angeles . . With Big Jim back this year, and with some help in the mound staff St. Charles could become the team to beat in Ohio

Five Marion Area Entries Eliminated From State A.A.U. Boxing Tournament

By BILL MURPHY

Of 22 fights run off in the opening round of boxing last night at Toledo in the state A.A.U. tournament, six of the bouts included boys from the Marion stable who had won in the local Golden Gloves.

Taking that big step to the higher class of amateurs was just too much for five of the Marion aspirants of the ring as they faltered and fell early in the slugging. Lack of experience was the main deficiency, not ability or training.

But Lawrence Strahm of Carey, fighting in the featherweight division, was the only local boy who didn't find the state pace two fast Matched with Tom Henderson, 126, of Dayton, Strahm, unimpressed by the hustle and bustle and significance of the bout, kept his peculiar style of punching and won the fight on points in three rounds

To Fight Tonight

He will fight Al Perales, 126, of Toledo tonight in the semi-finals Perales eliminated Don Keeling, featherweight titlist from Cincinnati in 1947, to go into the semi-finals.

Joe Neidig, Al Treisch, Charlie Farina and William Gallan, other Marion fighters entered in the competition, were eliminated via the ko route.

Jack Sekinger, 142, welterweight, lost on a split decision to Charles Sampson, 138, of Springfield after a mixup in which the judges took five minutes to arrive at a decision The fans didn't like the decision and booed lustily It was, perhaps, one of those flukes where the judges fail to associate the proper name with the proper fighter, and end up with a wrong decision

Pat "Spunky" Lowry, golden boy of Toledo boxing and finalist in Chicago last year in the Chicago A.A.U. and again this year as a featherweight, dropped Joe Nelding in 22 seconds of the first round. He in turn took a terrific beating at the hands of Wallace Smith, national A.A.U titlist from Cincinnati.

Smith won over Lowry in 30 seconds of the second round after putting the Toledoan on the mat three times in the first round and twice in 30 seconds of the second Smith is practically certain of making the trip to Boston for the national finals.

Al Treisch, 101, of Galion was ko'd in 1:59 of the first by Howard Freimark of the Toledo club. Charlie Farina, 158, was ko'd by Herb McDonald in 1:30 of the second round when a left uppercut found his chin. McDonald is another who is almost assured a title in the state matches. William Gallan, 112, bantam, caught a right cross thrown by Darrel Ladd on the point of the chin after 41 seconds of the first round. Ladd won on a tko.

Oilers, Wildcats Win Olympic Cage Berths

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 30—The Phillips Oilers of Bartlesville, Okla., and the Wildcats of the University of Kentucky will furnish 10 of the 14 players on the basketball squad which goes to London this summer to represent the United States in the Olympic games.

In addition, the national AAU and NCAA titleholders, who shot their way to the finals of the U. S. Olympic tryouts at Madison Square Garden last night will meet in an exhibitions series later this year to help pay expenses of the trip to the British capital.

Bartlesville flattened the Denver Nuggets, 69-40, while Kentucky whipped Baylor university, 77-59, in the semi-finals Both victories followed the pattern set by the same teams in the recent finals of the national AAU and NCAA tournaments.

America's Olympic cage squad will not be selected officially until tomorrow night after Bartlesville and Kentucky clash in the finals of the tryouts and Denver and Baylor meet for third place.

The U. S. Olympic basketball committee has invited the Bartlesville and Kentucky coaches to recommend five men each for the American squad.

The other four players on the Olympic squad will be named by the committee from among the remaining six teams in the playoffs.

CANTON SOUTH 1ST COLUMBUS ARRIVAL

Wildcats Work Out at Aquinas for "A" Tourney.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 30—If Canton South's Wildcats don't win the class A Ohio high school basketball championship this weekend, they can't blame lack of preparedness or lack of confidence.

Coach Charles E. (Red) Ash brought his Stark county squad to Columbus yesterday and worked out on the Aquinas High school floor—the earliest a team has ever arrived for the cage classic.

"We are serious about this thing," Ash said "You know, 29 Stark county clubs have reached the state tournament, and several of them have gone to the final game, but none has ever won the class A title.

"After the drubbing we gave Canton McKinley in the regional finals, and considering the schedule we played, we feel we are ready for Findlay. We know they've won 25 in a row, but we've won 23 of 24 and our opposition was pretty tough.

"We respect Findlay a lot, but we feel we're even with 'em in personnel and ability. The reason we came down early was because we heard the Columbus water sometimes affected the visiting teams, so, we want to get used to it before tournament time."

Ash said he had lined up a team of Columbus all-star high school players to scrimmage against his Wildcats to keep them on edge. He has workouts at Aquinas scheduled tomorrow and Wednesday, and the team will get its first look at the coliseum at 11 a. m. Thursday.

The Wildcats meet Findlay's undefeated Trojans Friday night in the class A semi-finals, following the Hamilton Catholic-Coshocton afternoon fray.

Doctor To Rule On Condition of Charles

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, March 30—Dr. Walter B Phillips, official physician for the Cincinnati Boxing commission, today expected to solve the riddle of Ezzard Charles' ailing back for the Illinois Athletic commission.

The IAC has ordered Charles to appear for a physical examination to determine if his claim for a five-day postponement of a bout with Elmer (Violent) Ray is justified.

The Cincinnati Negro battler said he needs a five-day delay because a cold in his back has delayed heavy training

The fight, a benefit affair for the family of Sam Baroudi, Akron, O, who died after a Feb. 20 battle with Charles, originally was set for April 7. Promoters changed the date to April 12.

The Illinois commission has indicated the April 7 date will stand if Charles' claim for an extension is not justified

GETTEL, MUNCRIEF SHUT OUT BROWNS

By The Associated Press

TUCSON, Ariz., March [illegible] members of the Cleveland Indians' "big five" mound staff promised some help today to ballers Bob Feller and Bob Lemon

Al Gettel and Bob Muncrief pair of veterans who are expected to take the mill regularly with Feller and Lemon are not engaged in winning their spring games, combined yesterday for the Tribe's first shutout victory, 2 to 0 over the St. Louis Browns.

It was the seventh consecutive spring victory for the high-flying Redskins and their triumph in 15 starts, tops for the American league.

The Indians eked out yesterdays win on five bingles, including two by Manager Lou Boudreau

Gettel yielded four harmless hits in four innings, and two of the safeties were snuffed out immediately by Cleveland fielding plays. Muncrief, a former Buckeye, limited his ex-teammates to a single hit in four innings of his best performance of the current season.

Rookie Larry Doby, who is high with the Tribe "brass" as a possible starter this season, and freshman Ray Murray, in the Indians' two runs in the eighth with a pair of timely singles. Pat Seerey drew a walk and two sacrifices contributed to the winning rally.

102 BUCKEYES OUT
By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March [illegible] One hundred and two candidates turned out yesterday for Ohio State university's first spring football practice Head Coach [illegible] Fesler sent the squad through a 90-minute workout on blocking and calisthenics. Park Blubaugh, freshman halfback from Lima, worked with yesterday's "No. 2 team."

GIANTS GLOAT
By The United Press

FRESNO, Calif.—The New York Giants, who aren't supposed to have much pitching, could do some gloating today about their sophomore hurling star Larry Jansen.

The lanky right-hander, who racked up 21 victories last year as a freshman, has worked 12 exhibition innings this spring without allowing an earned run. He pitched five of those frames yesterday, yielding four hits, as the Giants blanked the Pittsburgh Pirates, 2 to 0

Joe Beggs allowed the Pirates four more hits in the final four innings The Giants got one run against Vic Lombardi in the fifth on Jack Lohrke's homer and the other against Mel Queen in the seventh on a walk, Whitley Lockman's single, and an infield out.

17-INNING DEADLOCK

ST PETERSBURG, Fla.—Judging from the action so far in spring training, the duel between the New York Yankees and the Boston Red Sox in the American league this year will be long and bitter

The Yanks and the Sox, regarded now as the league's top teams battled to a 2 to 2 standstill yesterday in a 17-inning game that set a new record for American league teams in training and tied the major league exhibition mark. The game was halted by darkness after four hours and two minutes.

Thumbnailing Tourney Teams

By JOHN BARRINGTON
INS Sportswriter

COLUMBUS, March 30—Giving once over lightly to class B teams who vie for state high school championship in Columbus this weekend . . .

GLENFORD — Golden Horde sports top class B record with 35 wins, one loss . . defeated by Junction City, 62-47, but trounced same team on three other occasions, 49-36, 73-49 and 39-35 . . . Glenford won 1941 state championship, sparked by Dick Shrider, who went on to star at Ohio U . . Ace of this year's cast is Glen (Golden Boy) Hursey. INS All-Ohio selection . . . A six-foot senior, he's scored 878 points this year and 2,314 in four years. . . . Also a fine pitching prospect in baseball. . . . Rest of those Perry county boys can play ball, too . . Coached by Bill Ross of Ohio U. Glenford is smallest school in tourney . . . only 60 boys . . .

EATON—Opening game opponent of Glenford Thursday afternoon and may prove darkhorse team of tournament . . . Won 21 and lost to Dayton Wilbur Wright, 40-29, and Hamilton Catholic, 49-35 . . . Defeated several class A quintets, including Miamisburg, which went on to eliminate Middletown's defending class A state champs. . . . Eaton's regional final victory over Lockland Wayne was bitterly protested but upheld by High School Commissioner H W Emswiler. . . . Coach is Gene Ellington, only mentor not an Ohio college product . . . Ellington went to Earlham, just across state line at Richmond, Ind. . . . Eaton has 136 boys, 11 below the class B maximum . . .

LIMA ST. ROSE—won 27, lost two (to class A Toledo Central Catholic, 47-37, and Lima St John in 38-34 upset) . St. Rose coach is youthful Fred George, like Harold Mouch of Hamilton Catholic a Dayton U product. . . Three other parochial schools have won state class B laurels, but none since Sandusky St Mary in 1936 . Johnny Mulcahy of St. Rose was selected on INS class B All-Ohio . . . School has 95 boys. . . . Opening test comes Thursday night with North Canton as opposition. . . .

NORTH CANTON—With Canton South also in running, gives Stark county a chance to be the first "grand slam" winner of both class A and class B titles same year. . . . BOBCAT NINE WINS BUT BISHOPS LOSE
By The Associated Press

Ohio university's baseball nine beat Erskine college of South Carolina yesterday, but Ohio Wesleyan took it on the chin again—losing to Virginia, 17-9.

Ohio U spoiled Erskine's season opener, 4-3, with an unearned run in the eighth inning on two hits and an error.

NO ACTION ON BEULAH
By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 30 — Ohio's Racing commission decided yesterday to take no action on Beulah Park's application for spring dates while its court appeal from a commission order is pending. The track recently asked Franklin county common pleas court to set aside a commission rule requiring installation of totalizator at tracks in excess of three quarters of a mile.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

by Hugh S. Fullerton, jr

NEW YORK, March 30—The Detroit Tigers' Dizzy Trout and Art Houtteman were the first major league pitchers to go nine innings during the current spring training season . . . That comparatively unimportant fact emphasizes a phenomenon that likely will continue through the entire American league campaign . . . Detroit hasn't a first-division ball club, in the commonly accepted sense, but it will be a pennant contender because of its superfine pitching staff . . . As Billy Evans explains: "We'll only need a couple of runs to win a game with the kind of pitching we'll get."

BOB SEYMOUR became swimming coach at the University of Denver last December because he was a football backfield coach with little to do all winter . . . Bob, who claims he took a few lessons at the "Y" so he wouldn't drown before issuing the call for candidates, found himself in charge of a team that won six of seven dual meets, won the Skyline Six championship then took almost every event in the Rocky Mountain A A U meet . . . Following custom, the athletes have pitcher Bob into the tank eight times, to which his only comment is: "It's hard on store-bought clothes, but I'm proud to cooperate."

Waldo Legion Post To Play All Girl Team

The Waldo Porter-Snyder Post, American Legion, basketball team, winners of 13 of 19 games this season, take on an all-girl team, the Famous Redheads, Thursday night at 8:30 in the Delaware High school gym.

The Redheads, who play men's teams only, play men's rules, and are a mighty tough cage aggregation, specializing in whipping veteran's teams who have visions of the superiority of the masculine sex.

The Redheads are paced by Toby McGee, six-foot-two specialist in pivot ball handling. Capt. Danny Daniels, a professional for seven years, is one of the smartest women cagers in the States Other Redhead stalwarts are Ruth Haines, 5-10 and a smooth dependable ball player; Beth Bohannon, 5-8 Oklahoma girl in her first year as a pro; Thelma Cottrell, another rookie who shows a lot of promise; Virginia Posey, high scorer from Arkansas who stands an even six feet, and Pauline Smedley, "Sweetheart of the Rockies" from Colorado

Standouts on the Waldo Legion team are Jim Ward, Carroll Conklin and Robert Smith on the offense, and Richard Chapman and Jack Mackenzie as guards All are ex-Waldo High players except Chapman, who went to Claridon. Other Legionmen are John Ward, who doubles as forward and guard, Eldon Reiff, another all around player, Charles Yeager, Arden Groll, Dean Augenstein, Frank Ruth, Jack Augenstein and Robert Buckingham.

The Waldo team is coached by Eldon Butler and managed by Howard Henry.

The Waldo Legion-Redhead clash will follow a game between Bird-McGinnis Post and either the Delaware or Richwood Posts of the American Legion.

PCL OPENS SEASON

LOS ANGELES, March 30—The Pacific Coast league opens its 46th season of baseball today with Seattle at Hollywood Los Angeles at San Diego, San Francisco at Sacramento and Portland at Oakland

Harding Nine Opens Training Tonight

Harding High school will open baseball training tonight. Pete Howison, coach of the team announced today.

Forty boys reported for a meeting to talk over plans last night at the school, and 10 others are expected to report for drills in tonight's session Only 18 of the 50 boys reporting will remain on the team after the squad is cut, Coach Howison said. The cut will be made within two weeks.

A complete schedule has not been formed, but two games will be played with Mansfield and two with Ashland. The season will probably open in the last week of April with Mansfield as the probable opponent. Most of an eight-game schedule will be played during the month of May Howison reports that all of last year's lettermen are returning with the exception of John Owens, pitcher, and Doug Kneisley, catcher. Both boys are ineligible.

The $2.80 payoff on Calumet's Citation in the Everglades Handicap at Hialeah this year was the lowest straight mutuel return in the track's history.

BUT, M'SIEU!! HE ATTACKED YOU!
WHAT'S THE IDEA, PAL? THEY HAD ME COLD! YOU COULD HAVE TURNED ME IN!
I'M BIG-HEARTED... AND WE'RE A LONG WAY FROM HOME... HOW ABOUT A DRINK, SAILOR?
I CAN'T FIGURE YOU, PAL... YOU HAD ME BOUNCED OUTTA THIS JOINT FOR MOLESTIN' THAT NURSE — AN' WHEN I JUMPED YOU, YOU WAS CHASIN' HER UP AN ALLEY!
SHE GOT TOUCHY WHEN I MENTIONED A CERTAIN YACHT.

Dick Tracy By Chester Gould

LISTEN, MY FRIEND, YOU LOOK LIKE A REAL GUY. WHY DON'T YOU LISTEN TO THE LADY?
YOU SAY WE'VE DUMPED ON YOUR PROPERTY. —WE'RE WILLING TO PAY.
ARRESTING US WON'T CLEAR THAT CARGO OFF THE GROUND—HOW ABOUT THIS TWENTY?
WHAT!! BRIBERY?
IT'S NOT BRIBERY—IT'S JUST PAYING YOU FOR YOUR TROUBLE.
OH! MY LITTLE DOG!
H'M? $20!
MY DOG! MY DEAR LITTLE COCKER! WHERE IS SHE?
LET THE ★※#!! DOG GO. WE'RE LEAVING!
SEEING AN OPPORTUNITY TO FLEE FROM THE ONE PERSON SHE HATES, THE LITTLE COCKER DASHES THROUGH THE THICKET.

WHAT DO YOU MEAN, YOU'RE GOING TO GET EVEN WITH ME? SUPPOSE I REALLY GET THE BIG OGY AFTER YOU THIS TIME!
HA! YOU CAN'T FOOL US WITH THAT VENTRILOQUISM TRICK AGAIN!
SUPERMAN! SAY— ISN'T ANYBODY WITH YOU?
ER-AH-YOU DON'T SEE ANYBODY ELSE, DO YOU?
WELL—IF YOU WANT TO TALK TO YOURSELF, IT AIN'T NONE OF MY BUSINESS.
LET'S GET OUT OF HERE AND TALK THIS OVER AT MY HOME!
YIPPEE! LOOKIT US, OGY! WE'RE GOING ZIPPING WITH SUPERMAN AGAIN!

LIFE'S DARKEST MOMENT By H. T. Webster

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK By R. J. Scott

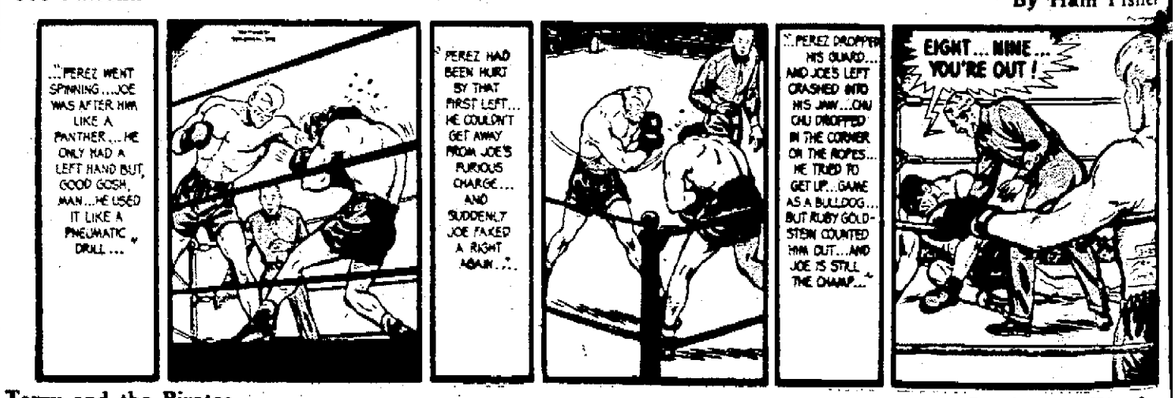
SCRAPS
WERE ANCIENT WHALES VERY LARGE?
THEY WERE ONLY A FRACTION OF THE SIZE OF THEIR MODERN DESCENDANTS.
THE NEST OF THE ALLEN HUMMINGBIRD IS HELD TOGETHER WITH SPIDERWEBS.
PANAMANIANS MAKE MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS OF GOURDS AND STICKS, USING VINES FOR STRINGS.
LIGHT BREEZES, PLAYING THROUGH THE STRINGS, PRODUCE SWEET, SOFT MELODIES.

Gasoline Alley By Frank King

HERE'S ANOTHER MORNING, NINA, AND RUFUS HASN'T APPEARED.
MORE CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE, SKEEZIX.
IF THEY HAVE ELOPED, I FEEL SORRY FOR AUNT HESSIE.
I SYMPATHIZE WITH RUFUS.
IT IS HARD TO BELIEVE, BUT I'M SLIPPING.
I'M GOING OVER TO MRS. BUSKIN'S WHERE RUFUS ROOMS. SHE MAY KNOW SOMETHING.

Joe Palooka By Ham Fisher

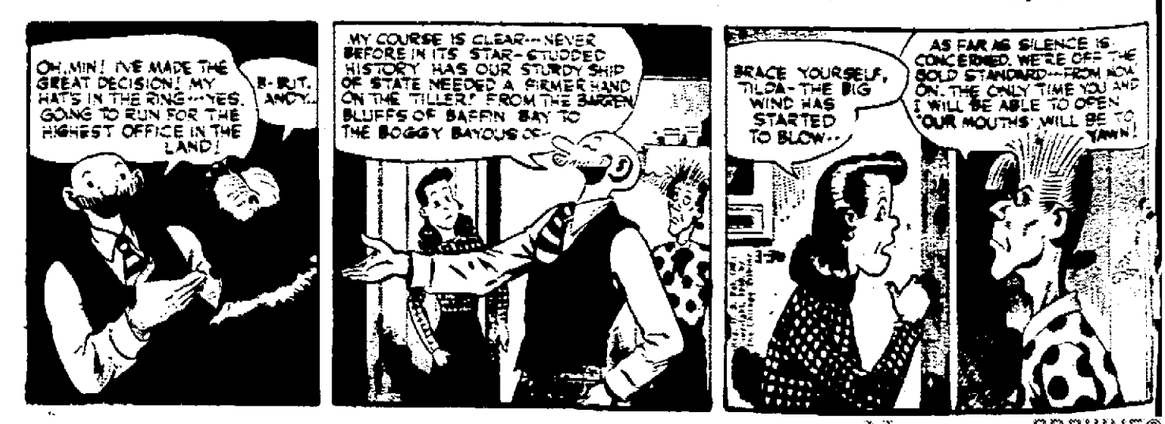


...PEREZ WENT SPINNING...JOE WAS AFTER HIM LIKE A PANTHER...HE ONLY HAD A LEFT HAND BUT, GOOD GOSH, MAN...HE USED IT LIKE A PNEUMATIC DRILL...
PEREZ HAD BEEN HURT BY THAT FIRST LEFT... HE COULDN'T GET AWAY FROM JOE'S FURIOUS CHARGE... AND SUDDENLY JOE FAKED A RIGHT AGAIN...
...PEREZ DROPPED HIS GUARD... AND JOE'S LEFT CRASHED INTO HIS JAW...CHU CHU DROPPED IN THE CORNER ON THE ROPES... HE TRIED TO GET UP...GAME AS A BULLDOG... BUT RUBY GOLDSTEIN COUNTED HIM OUT...AND JOE IS STILL THE CHAMP...
EIGHT... NINE... YOU'RE OUT!

Terry and the Pirates By George Wunder

WHEW! THEY'RE GONE... THAT WAS CLOSE!
UGH! WHEN THAT HORRIBLE LITTLE MAN BEGAN POKING HIS BAYONET THROUGH THOSE LEAVES, I THOUGHT WE WERE FINISHED... WHAT MADE HIM LOSE INTEREST SO FAST?
INCREDIBLE! WE HAVE CHARLES TO THANK— WHEN HE USED HIS BREATHING TUBE AS A BEAN-SHOOTER, AND PEPPERED HIM WITH PEBBLES, THE FELLOW THOUGHT HE WAS BEING STUNG BY A WILD INSECT!...
I THOUGHT IT WAS KIND OF A BRIGHT IDEA, MYSELF.
AS LONG AS WE HAVE SUCH MODEST BRILLIANCE IN OUR MIDST, I SUPPOSE WE MIGHTN'T WORRY OVER, BEING ON FOOT IN THIS JUNGLE WITHOUT FRESH WATER, FOOD, WEAPONS, OR THE SLIGHTEST IDEA OF WHERE WE ARE!

The Gumps By Gus Edson



OH, MIN! I'VE MADE THE GREAT DECISION! MY HAT'S IN THE RING—YES, GOING TO RUN FOR THE HIGHEST OFFICE IN THE LAND!

BRACE YOURSELF, TILDA—THE BIG WIND HAS STARTED TO BLOW...

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

A report from New York indicates that three of four Americans never learned to play a musical instrument. . . . A report from Washington indicates that one who did wishes he had stuck with it.

The action of the Mississippi legislature in considering banning of piano playing of "The Missouri Waltz" on the air infringes the rights of two presidents . . . and Petrillio is not easily appeased.

Mississippi also wants southern radio stations to open and close their programs with "Dixie" . . . and if it leaks north they're for that too.

First thing you know they'll be running an independent "Voice of America" program with Speed Riggs beamed toward Washington.

I hear Harry didn't mind when they talked of plugging his piano and he didn't mind when they talked up "Dixie" for a theme song but when they prefaced his last speech with, "The views of the speaker are not necessarily those of Robert E. Lee," he got a little angry.
